

Middle School and High School Board Updates

August 2017

- Dansville will continue to partner with IISD, the Kennedy Center, Wharton Center, and the Broad Art Museum in order to provide arts integration opportunities in the classroom. Mary Hekman along with several elementary teachers, attended the Arts Institute training to begin learning and planning the implementation of new activities.
- Dansville students have been returning to various school activities in preparation for the upcoming year. Practices for fall sports and marching band have begun, and a few high school students are finishing up credit recovery via the e2020 program.
- Middle School teachers Jessica Guss, Sydney Haag, Linsey Ebert and Pauline Lee were awarded a grant to attend training to support student learning. The Reading Apprenticeship program utilizes a framework for students to better understand the vocabulary and meaning of reading materials. Dansville was pleased to be awarded this grant opportunity and the teachers look forward to implementing it in the classroom.
- DHS Juniors Caleb Hodgson and Keshia Overton, were selected to attend the Rotary Youth Leadership Camp. Their participation was sponsored by the Williamston Sunrise Rotary Club, which included students from Dansville, Webberville and Williamston.
